

Want to play your Boom Again game with friends on Zoom?

A "BOOM ZOOM" plays a little differently than the standard game. Here's how:

- The person with a copy of the Boom Again board game gets to be the host – you know, the official M.C. (Think: Wink Martindale*).
- You'll need a box of Cards, the Category Description Card, and the Game Tokens from the board game to play.
- Print a copy of this scorepad.
- Hot Tip: Download a copy of the Category List pdf and send it to the other players. Or take a picture and text it to the other players. It will keep you from repeating the category choices over and over.
- Divide into two teams. Red Team vs Blue Team. Old Team vs Young(er) Team. Men vs Women. Whatever. Then decide which team goes first.

Playing:

1. The M.C. selects any one of the Game Tokens and holds it up for everyone to see on camera.
2. The starting team selects ANY category of their choice.
3. The M.C. draws a card and reads them a question from that category.
 - If they get it right, the M.C. puts a check mark in their column on the scoresheet.
 - If they get it wrong, they do not score.
 - Now the other team gets a turn, and they select a category.
4. Back and forth the two teams go. At the start of each turn the playing team can pick whatever category they want.
5. The first team to give three correct answers is awarded that token.
6. Move on to the next token and continue in the same way.

The first team to win three tokens wins the game!

* Wink Martindale is one of the greatest game show hosts of our generation. He isn't involved in this game, and isn't endorsing it, we just wanted to tip-our-hat to him.
